

Dear community, we would like to inform you about the recent changes declared by Twitter regarding its API integration access scheme, which implies a new API Integration scheme, as well as several other changes to its business model in integrations, with a maximum deadline of 29/04/2023.

Our teams are currently working on the tests and scopes declared for the new model to ensure, update, and transparently adapt it to messaging integrations in Lynn. Currently, these changes limit the connection of new Twitter channels to Lynn.
